From the first day I started Diet Solutions, I felt I could change my life. The staff helped me change the way I had been eating. The staff is incredible. They are very encouraging and always have a solution to my weaknesses. I feel great, and I owe it to Diet Solution staff.

Moments in time ...

Do you ever look back and contemplate moments that defined your future? I suppose all of us do at some point in life. Sometimes, I spend too much time considering the moments that altered my future negatively, but I treasure the ones that improved my life. As April arrives, I can't help but consider a childhood choice that led me to follow the Lord and invite Him to take an active role in my life. Simple decisions can have a major impact on everything.

Take, for example, my decision to attend a writer's conference in the fall of 2012. While at the day-long workshop, I met two ladies from NOW Magazines. I left with their business cards in hand, then followed up by taking a chance with my writing abilities. Those two decisions led me to where I am today. I started as a freelance writer for NOW, and at the perfectly right time, God opened a door for me to step into an editor role. I dreamed of writing for a living. What self-respecting writer doesn't? Not sure I believed it could happen.

Yet here I sit, writing an editor's note and marveling that I get to write for a living. I couldn't have orchestrated this in my life if I tried. We make a thousand decisions daily, and one may be the very choice that changes the future to fulfill a dream you may not even know you possess.

May April be your month of dream-producing decisions!

Growing up surrounded by the art world, Tom Sale learned early that he enjoyed creating art more than talking about creations. He grew up with parents who taught and lived art, so becoming an artist came naturally for him. Through teaching and volunteering at Russell Farm, Tom spends his days filled with a passion for what he loves. "I deal with art all the time," he said. "I'm just driven to it."

SECRET PLAYLAND

— By Lisa Bell

The youngest in his family, Tom's mom returned to college when he began elementary school. She held both a bachelor's and master's, wrote a college art textbook and lectured at University of North Texas. His father was an English literature professor. As a child, his parents dragged him to many art events.

During his junior year in high school, Tom ventured abroad as an exchange student in Antwerp, Belgium. After graduation, he returned to Belgium to attend a conservatory in Brussels. He called it his wild, experimental year. With a tough schedule and no college credits, he returned home and earned an art history degree from The University of Texas at Austin. He then went on to earn a master's from UNT in painting and drawing.

For 10 years, Tom worked as an art professor at Navarro College. Although he enjoyed teaching, he eventually wanted to take a year off to focus on his art. At mid-life, he struggled to become a professional artist while working at the Dallas Zoo for a year. "It was fabulous. I loved the zoo. Didn't love the hours," he shared. The experience spilled over into his artwork, though.

Returning to teaching, he became an art professor at Hill College about 13 years ago. His wife, Dottie Love, recently retired from Hill College after teaching for more than 25 years. Her expertise in computer graphics and digital photography fuel her artistic passion. "We live on 30 acres outside Ennis," Tom admitted. "It's like Green Acres reversed. Dottie raises zebu cattle. I don't."

But he loves being outdoors, so when his dean made an appointment at Russell Farm, he fell in love with what he now refers to as his secret playland. When he first volunteered, Tom emptied trash, helped clean buildings and basically did whatever they needed. Over time, discussions grew about art and classes. That opened a door to new opportunities.

Volunteering his time every Saturday morning, he revived an old tradition at the farm — Saturday morning open art. “Charlie and Louise [Boren] used to do that. They started with art critiques and eventually became a nonprofit,” he explained. Tom selects a theme each week and provides still-life objects and instruction for any person who wants to come paint, sketch, photograph or simply work in the presence of other artists.

Because of his passion, the Russell Farm supervisor, Mary Ann Spaun, invited Tom to become an art advisor to the board. Now Tom and Mary Ann plan events such as artist residencies, the Red Chair Lectures series, classes and open art times plus more. After cleaning out the Baker Building, Tom set it up as a gallery of sorts, but also as a studio space for those who share his love of creating.

Following the Boren passion for all artists, they look forward to hosting an author, Jonathan Eaton, who plans an artist in residency during June 2022. Coinciding with Timeless in Texas, Tom envisions pulling Jonathan into the event. He and Mary Ann also want to look at potential writing events on the farm in the future.

When Tom began teaching, he started collecting old prints and owns many original sketches dating back to the 17th century. His own art includes a variety of techniques and styles, one of which includes mini-dioramas. “My favorite thing is to go out in the woods, find rocks, snail shells and other tidbits. I take photos of tree bark and pick up pointed beaver sticks,” he said. “These chunks of nature become part of my artwork.”

His alter artist ego, Pinky Diablo, catches people off guard. “When they see Pinky Diablo art and then meet me, they don’t connect the two,” he admitted with a grin.

Watching movies and reading books gives Tom inspiration for future projects. The commute between home and Burleson becomes his thinking time. He finds himself daydreaming during that hour on the road. “Art enables me to support worthy causes,” he explained. One example, planned for April 16 at Russell Farm, raises awareness of Autism. The vintage 19th Century Circus theme came through Jamie Wheeler of Austen’s Autistic Adventures. He looks forward to facilitating the event on behalf of the organization.

A lover of secrets, Tom announced a big one. He plans to retire from Hill College, and he is excited for two reasons. He’ll have more time to volunteer at his beloved Russell Farm. And his parents, in their 90s, can still travel and do things, so he looks forward to spending more time with them.

Retirement won’t mean sitting down in a rocking chair for this local artist and professor. With numerous ideas for bringing more art to Russell Farm, his secret playland promises to grow bigger and better in the future. He can’t wait to see what fresh adventures lie in store for him and all those who love being on the farm. NOW

TALES OF TEXAS

Impossible or True?

— By Lisa Bell

While legends often sound far-fetched, all of them have a basis of truth. In the case of María de Jesús de Ágreda, many pieces of her story have no explanation outside a mysterious and miraculous event.

Born April 2, 1602, María Fernández Coronel grew up with a zeal for telling people the Gospel story, wanting nothing more than to see people come to a saving knowledge of her Lord. From early childhood, she longed to become a missionary in the New World. Unfortunately, young girls of her era didn't have that career option.

Some say even as an infant, she had divine knowledge. A child prone to visions, preoccupation with spirituality and obsessed with compassion for the poor, her family misunderstood her. Often feeling wounded and unloved, she retreated to the depths of her soul. With desires of mission work squashed, María made a decision. At only 8 years old, the girl announced a determination to take a chastity vow and enter the sisterhood.

Seven years later, her father and two brothers entered a monastery. Following what they all believed as guidance from the Lord, María's parents converted their castle into a convent — the Franciscan Convent of the Immaculate Conception at Ágreda. Sister María de Jesús (as she was known after taking her vows) entered the sisterhood without ever leaving her home.

Instead of esteeming her, the other nuns ridiculed and humiliated her. At one point, the Mother Superior requested an ecclesiastical examination. After much questioning, the Provincial of Burgos, Fray Anthorn de Villacre, declared her neither foolish nor mad. He declared that Sister María de Jesús attained true sanctity, a transcendent state of spirituality. The nuns then held her in the highest esteem, thrusting her into unwanted limelight.

Not long after that, during fervent prayer following communion one day, the young nun entered a trance. She found herself walking among dark-skinned men where they gathered, hunted and lived a simple life. Returning many times in the same fashion, sometimes two and three times a day, she taught them the fundamentals of Christian faith and lifestyle. Sister María de Jesús claimed over 500 visits to the New World, although she physically never left Spain.

Later, under the guidance of her confessor, Francisco Andres de la Torre, she detailed accounts of her journeys in a book titled, The Mystical City of God. Questioned extensively, Sister María de Jesús provided glorious details that she could not possibly know without having been among the native Americans.

The Jumano tribe, inhabitants of Texas and parts of New Mexico, have long shared stories of the Blue Nun. They say she appeared hundreds of times to them, coming from the sky.

Because of the cobalt blue clothing she wore, they called her the Lady in Blue. Many settlers also claimed this same woman came to them, ministering to their souls.

The Jumano Braves, moved by the nun, traveled to a mission in New Mexico and shared with the priests what they learned from her. From 1620, increasing numbers of native Americans came, requesting missionaries so they could learn more and receive blessings. When friars finally visited the village, the natives welcomed them with two wooden crosses, covered with flowers they said the Lady in Blue helped them decorate. When shown a photo of an older Franciscan nun, they declared their Lady in Blue wore the same clothing but was much younger and very beautiful.

The Jumano legend states that the morning after the Blue Nun's last visit, they woke to a field of beautiful flowers that matched the color of her cloak. According to them, the Texas bluebonnet appeared in her absence.

A few years after her death in 1665, the church declared Sister María de Jesús de Ágreda venerable. In the 20th century, they opened her coffin and found the beloved nun's body uncorrupted by death.

Did she indeed visit America at the same time she remained in Spain? Some believe she did, although no one can explain the possibility of such visits outside a miracle of bi-location.

Those who saw the Lady in Blue recorded and told their stories for generations. Whether a true visit by a miracle, or a vision that appeared to many people, the Jumano tribe, settlers and others learned about Christianity — enough to want more knowledge and blessings from the church. Sister Maria's deepest desire to see people in the New World learn about Christianity came to fruition — a fact history can't dispute. NOW

Zoomed In: Darlene Harris

By Lisa Bell

With family living in Crowley, Darlene Harris moved to Burleson in November 2021. "I often spent time at restaurants near Old Town, so I knew the area," she shared. In March, she ventured out to the Mayor Vera Calvin Plaza for Mardi Craw, joining family and friends for an evening of fun. "I love being outdoors and can't wait for summer and all the fun events Burleson holds."

Reflecting on last Christmastime, Darlene said she heard a loud boom. Stepping outside her apartment, the firework display pleasantly surprised her. "I just love the community," she admitted. Enjoying jazz music with a plate full of crawfish, she delights in the move.

At one time, Scott Peterson, owner of Roots Garden Center & Landscaping, oversaw landscaping for 50 shopping malls. After retiring from the railroad, he went back to landscaping. “It’s a passion,” he said. “What I love to do.” Scott especially enjoys projects when a homeowner gives them permission to tear everything out and start from scratch. While it can sometimes prove a challenge, he likes watching his customers’ reactions. “Most want low-maintenance flowerbeds. It’s our job to choose the right plants and customize them to fit their needs.”

Originally, Scott chose the location on Renfro to support his landscaping business. “People kept stopping by, asking, ‘When are y’all opening?’ I never ran a nursery before, but we figured, Why not?” he explained. With his wife, Karen Peterson, as a co-owner, they opened the nursery to the public on April 1, 2017, and began doing business as Roots Garden Center & Landscaping.

Not only do they carry more than 600 trees, they also provide a wide variety of plants. In off seasons, they have about 1,000-1,500 plants, but in the spring, they have several thousand plants available. With April as the opportune time for planting, they stay busiest as spring blossoms in the area.

While Scott continues offering landscaping services, the public can also visit the nursery and take home the plants they choose. With a knowledgeable staff, customers can anticipate a good experience, even when just looking. "Our employees get excited. We all have plants and gardens at home, learning through our own experiences," he said. "We're still a young nursery, growing and going places. We're getting better with time, constantly improving, upgrading and building."

About half their business comes from landscaping services. With the nursery at their disposal, they can choose from plants in stock for landscaping. "Plus, I have an awesome crew," Scott bragged. "Our dedicated employees are into plants. It's their reason for being here. [They have] lots of knowledge which sets us apart."

Scott's family moved to Burleson in 1989. "I love Burleson. I moved here and decided to stay for the rest of my life," he quipped. As a part of the community, Roots Garden Center & Landscaping supports the city by donating trees for Arbor Day. They also provide organizations like Harvest House with plants to help meet needs of local people.

Although they have only three trucks and a small crew to work on landscaping jobs, Scott prides himself on taking care of customers both on projects and at the nursery. "It's very important to us," he stated. "From getting you to the right plants, getting you checked out and helping load everything into your vehicle, we want to make sure we excel in customer service."

Roots will take on commercial landscaping, but Scott admitted residential is where they shine. He said, "Water and feed plants, preferably using organic food. People tend to neglect that most. Plants are living organisms. Like kids, they need to be fed and watered well."

April provides the perfect weather for planting. Although they get super busy, Scott encouraged, "Come by and let our experts teach you about plants. We can steer you in the right direction." NOW

In the Kitchen With

LIZ SNEAD

— By Amber D. Browne

With three children, a husband and an online cooking show, Liz Snead leads a busy life. Liz's familiarity with ingredients and dish presentation began a decade ago when she worked as a restaurant cook. Cooking went by the wayside until 2015 when a new home in Crowley offered more kitchen space. Liz began experimenting with food and created an Instagram account, Finally Abel Kitchen, named after her first-born son, Abel.

In 2020, the family moved to a larger home in Burleson. During the pandemic, Liz's cooking progressed, and she began filming recipe videos for her social media accounts. "I love recipes with lots of ingredients and many steps involved. Those are the recipes that challenge me," she shared. "Nothing makes me happier than feeding people and having a full home!" NOW

Smoked Queso Dip

1 lb. ground sausage or breakfast sausage
1 32-oz. pkg. Velveeta Queso Blanco Cheese
1 cup Mexican cheese, shredded
1 4-oz. can diced green chiles
1/2 jalapeño, diced
2 Tbsp. onion, diced
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 14.5-oz. can petite diced tomatoes
2 cups water
2 tsp. chicken bouillon
Salt, to taste

Pepper, to taste
1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
1/2 tsp. cumin
1 Tbsp. cilantro, sliced

1. In a skillet, brown the ground sausage. Add the sausage and the remaining ingredients, except the cilantro, to a smoker-proof pan.
2. Cook on a smoker at 235 F for 3 hours, stirring every 30 minutes.
3. If the dip is too thin after 3 hours, add more shredded Mexican cheese until the desired thickness is reached. Top with cilantro; serve with tortilla chips.

Spicy Crab Dip

1 lb. lump crab meat
1 8-oz. block cream cheese
1/2 cup sour cream
2 Tbsp. mayonnaise

3. Serve with toasted and sliced French bread or crackers.

Broccoli Cheddar Soup

3 Tbsp. butter
 1/4 onion, diced
 1 carrot, sliced
 1 celery stalk, sliced

 1 1/2 cups American cheese
 Salt, to taste
 Pepper, to taste

1. Combine the butter, onion and the next 5 ingredients in a large pot; simmer on medium-low for at least 30 minutes until the broccoli falls apart and other vegetables are tender.
2. Add the heavy cream, cheeses, salt and pepper. Cook on low until the cheese is melted. Add more cheese if the texture is too thin.
3. Serve alone, in a bread bowl or with a side of bread.

 Salt, to taste
 3 Tbsp. butter
 2 garlic cloves, minced
 1 cup heavy cream
 10 slices Asiago cheese
 1 tomato, diced
 3 chive sprigs, sliced

1. In a small bowl, mix together the chipotle chili powder and the next 4 ingredients. Set aside 1/3 of the seasoning mixture. With the remaining seasoning mixture, tenderize the chicken breasts.
2. In a pan, heat the oil on medium; add the chicken. Cook until the internal temperature is 165 F. Set aside the cooked chicken.
3. Using the same pan, cook the bacon until desired crispness; set aside.
