FINALLY a way to fix the PAIN of a BULGING DISC

Are you suffering from back pain, arm or leg pain, numbness, tingling, or weakness in your arms or legs? Then it's likely you're suffering from a bulging disc. That's when one of your spinal discs is bulging and causing these, sometimes severe, symptoms because of the effect it's having on your nervous system.

You may have already had this diagnosed on an MRI and thought that there is little that can be done about it. Bad information is a major problem because, in the right hands, a lot can be done for you. To end the misery caused by bulging discs, you must have the right information.

Pay close attention because I'm going to destroy some important myths and give you the facts.

MYTH: Bulging disc problems will just "go away" with some rest.

FACT: If you are dealing with back pain, buttock pain, or leg pain, then you must seek help from a bulging disc specialist immediately. If left untreated, the problem can lead to permanent nerve damage and lifelong pain.

MYTH: Pain is the only problem associated with bulging disc issues.

FACT: In severe cases, this problem can lead to the inability to control your bowels, bladder, and sexual potency, resulting in embarrassing situations.

MYTH: You must take pain medications to deal with bulging discs.

FACT: Drugs like muscle relaxants, painkillers, narcotics, antidepressants, and anti-seizure medications have serious potential side effects and do not cure bulging discs.

MYTH: Stop exercising and get several weeks of bed rest to let the bulging disc recover.

FACT: Staying active can help relieve the pain and prevent it from getting worse. Staying inactive in bed could be the worst advice, based on a recent study in the Netherlands.

MYTH: "I must have done something wrong to damage my disc."

FACT: Physical work or simply sitting at a desk for long periods can lead to bulging discs. Accidents and trauma can also be culprits. Pregnancy can cause damage as well. Disc bulges can happen to anyone, including super-fit celebrities like Tiger Woods, Sylvester Stallone, and British Olympic medalist Ian Wynne.

MYTH: Disc bulges or herniations require surgery.

FACT: No! There's been a huge breakthrough in the treatment of bulging discs.

MYTH: "There's nothing anyone can really do. I'm just stuck with this for the rest of my life."

FACT: With the correct treatment from a healthcare professional who specializes in bulging discs, you can find relief from the core cause and the symptoms.

MYTH: Getting a bulging disc properly diagnosed is expensive.

FACT: Not true. Dr. Carl McAfee and his team of doctors in Weatherford are currently offering an initial consultation with one of their specialists for just $29.

Dr. Carl McAfee, DC, and his team of doctors are bulging disc experts in Weatherford. This procedure does not require a hospital stay, and in most cases, you'll be able to continue with your normal daily activities with little interruption. The focus is on finding—and correcting—the original cause of the bulged disc.

According to Dr. McAfee, "We use a specialized digital X-ray motion study analysis to precisely diagnose the cause of your bulging disc. This means superior long-term results for most people." Eighty-eight percent of people find relief from the pain and associated symptoms. Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe, and easy, most patients report relief from their pain and associated symptoms early in the process.

Take the next step—end the suffering with an initial $29 consultation. Secure a thorough examination with McAfee Chiropractic.

Call 817-594-0281 to schedule your appointment. Mention this article (CODE: WN1109BC), and they will happily reduce the usual consultation fee of $275 to just $29! Only 100 reader consultations are available at this exclusively discounted rate.

FAITH to FIELD

— By Amber D. Browne

From the practice field to the championship celebration, coaches consistently support their athletes, encouraging growth and guiding them toward excellence. Jeff Brazzell is a coach's coach of sorts. For just over a decade, he has facilitated Coaches Outreach, a nonprofit headquartered in Dallas, at Aledo High School. But that is just one interesting fact about this 1973 Weatherford High School graduate.

Each August, Jeff kicks off the 13-week Coaches Outreach Ministry course, which helps enrich the lives of area coaches from a biblical perspective. For Jeff, it is like going back to school. "I can't wait to get my playbook," he shared. In the spring semester, the course continues, wrapping up in May.

Each week, Jeff spends 45-50 minutes reviewing the week's lesson from the playbook with the coaches. They pray, read Scripture and discuss the Bible. "If you think about how many kids they come in contact with daily, weekly, over a career, it's around 25,000," Jeff explained. "If they're locked in to doing what the Lord said, you can rest assured as a parent that your kid is in good hands with that person."

Although a busy man, Jeff had time on his hands after retiring from AT&T in 2013, so when AHS Head Football Coach and Coaches Outreach Representative Mike Sneed asked him to facilitate the program, it felt like the right move. In the fall of 2015, he kicked off the program for coaches in Aledo. "We had seven that first semester," Jeff shared. "Seven in the Bible talks about perfection, completion, so we were OK with it. We grew over time to as many as 17." Jeff plans to stay with the program at least two more years while his nephew, Dre Holder, plays football at AHS.

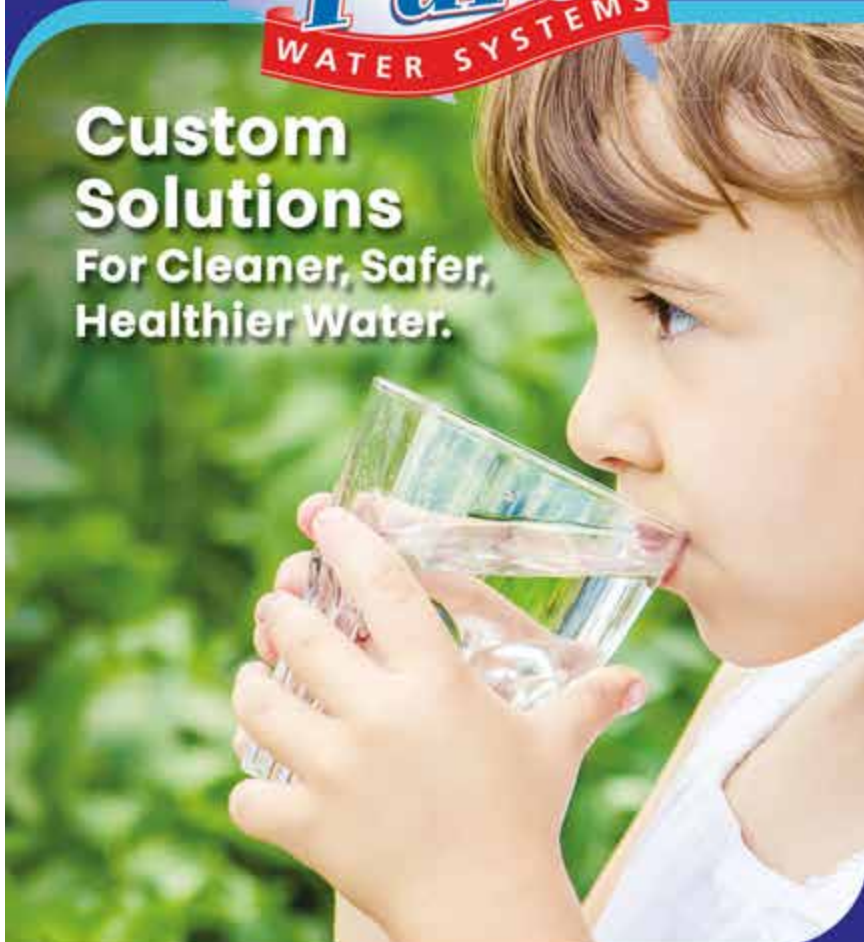

Jeff credits former AHS head football coaches and athletic directors, Tim Buchanan and Steve Wood, for supporting him and the Coaches Outreach program at the school over a decade ago. "If it wasn't for those two guys, these 11 years would have never come about. I would have just rode off into the sunset at some point," Jeff said. "It's really been a blessing."

In 2009, before his work with Coaches Outreach, Jeff was present at Aledo football games mentoring and encouraging young athletes. "I saw something evolving we had not seen in Aledo. A more diverse community, and it was amazing how it all was evolving — everyone working together toward a common goal. How can I speak to that? I grew up in the Jim Crow '50s and '60s in Parker County. It was 1965 before we were able to attend Aledo ISD," Jeff shared. His ties to the local community extend back to the early 1900s when his great-grandfather purchased land in Weatherford and Annetta. "My family's had a post office box out here since 1904."

In addition to football, track and field has remained a constant in Jeff's life for about four decades. In 1989, he founded The Weatherford Track Association, which later became Mach I, the first Parker County Youth summer track club. He was head coach for 18 years. He started and coached Springtown Striders Track Club in the early 1990s, and for the past 24 years, Jeff has served as head clerk for Texas Christian University track meets. He referees for postseason meets for a number of school districts in the area, including the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) American Conference Championship meet in May at the University of North Texas. In 2019, Jeff became an Emeritus Track Official of The University of Texas.

Jeff's talents extend beyond the world of sports. He started a mobile deejay business in 1982. "We've gone from records to CDs to streaming." Jeff used his deejay talents and experience behind the microphone at area country radio stations, Weatherford's KZEE AM and Mineral Wells' KYXS FM, in the mid-1980s to 1990. "I was the first Black to work at both," he said. He also carried the titles of news director and sports director at KYXS and spent time in sales at the Christian radio station KLTY FM. In 1990, he became the first in his family to graduate college earning a communications degree from The University of Texas at Arlington.

As a member of New Hope Baptist Church in Weatherford for more than 36 years, Jeff serves as superintendent of Sunday school and teaches the men's class. When he is not educating and mentoring others, Jeff enjoys life and travels with his wife, Diane, and their two adult daughters, Shalonda Horton and Tywana Jones and their families.

This month, Jeff will get back to work at Aledo High School to facilitate the Coaches Outreach program in hopes of enriching the lives of coaches and encouraging young student athletes to be their best on and off the field. His message to them is to stay hungry but to also stay humble. "I tell these young people all the time, character is what you do when no one is watching." NOW

For 20 years, a visitor to the Six Flags over Texas amusement park could enjoy a 10-minute river boat excursion known as La Salle's River Adventure. The ride commemorated one of the six flags, that of the French. The flag of France briefly flew over Texas in the late 1600s, when the French explorer René-Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle, got lost looking for the mouth of the Mississippi River. La Salle had sailed from French-occupied Florida and overshot his goal, landing somewhere near today's Garcitas Creek.

TALES OF TEXAS

The Early Entrance to Texas

— By Bill Smith

The Spanish were not at all pleased with the possibility of a French settlement in the territory and sent numerous expeditions in search of the French fort. Their early ventures were unsuccessful, until ruins of the fort were found. In 1722, historians believe, Garcitas Creek was likely the stream along which La Salle established Fort St. Louis, and upon the remains of the fort, the mission Nuestra Señora del Espíritu Santo de Zúñiga, also known as La Bahía, was constructed.

However, this was not the first Spanish mission to be built in Texas, as soon after the French colony was discovered, word was delivered to the Spanish that the Tejas Indians were seeking Christianity. The legend of "The Lady in Blue," who seems to have been a miraculous incarnation that visited the Tejas, led the Spanish in 1690 to send a military and evangelical expedition to establish missions among the Tejas. Soon after, the foundation for San Francisco de los Tejas mission was laid, and the first mass was celebrated. This would be the beginning of the establishment of El Camino Real de los Tejas.

"El Camino" translates to "the way" or "the road" in English. One of the earliest recorded uses of the road by a citizen of the United States was Moses Austin, as he traveled along the way westward to San Antonio, with plans to establish a colony. Of course, we know that Austin died before his plan could come to fruition, although he did meet with Baron de Bastrop, and soon after his meeting, Governor Antonio María Martínez endorsed the idea. His son, Stephen F. Austin, picked up his father's mantle and traversed the path to San Antonio to complete the contract with the Mexican government.

Settlers coming to Texas from the east typically crossed the Sabine River at Gaines Ferry and then continued on through Nacogdoches and along El Camino Real de los Tejas to the interior of the southern part of the state. As the colonies expanded and relations between the settlers and the Mexicans deteriorated, the road was a valuable route for the volunteers who came from the United States to the various battles around San Antonio de Béxar, including San Antonio de Valero, better known as the Alamo.

Texas heroes Sam Houston and David Crockett would certainly have followed the road when they came to Texas. The Handbook of Texas Online 2001 indicates Crockett's route "was ... across the Red River, through Clarksville, to Nacogdoches and San Augustine; and on to San Antonio." Had Crockett not met his fate at the Alamo, history records that his plans included traveling farther down the road to the Rio Grande.

Today, one can travel El Camino Real de los Tejas and see a number of historic sites along the National Historic Trail as designated by the National Park Service. Villa Antigua Border Heritage Museum in Laredo showcases the region's history, culture, industry and populations through a series of changing exhibits and educational seminars.

The NPS.gov website states, "This restored two-story brick building was once home to two early Laredo merchant families. With its size and pivotal location on the banks of the Rio Grande, this Italianate-style residence is representative of the grand houses that populated the San Agustín District in the early 20th century."

The Stone Fort Museum in Nacogdoches previously served as a trading post, private home, church, jail and saloon. While the original structure was torn down in 1902, the Texas Centennial Commission built a replica in 1936 on the Stephen F. Austin University Campus.

Other sites along the way include Caddo Mounds State Historic Site near Alto, Mission Delores State Historic Site at San Augustine, Mission Tejas State Park at Grapeland and McKinney Falls State Park near Austin. You would be hard pressed to visit all these historic sites in one trip, but there is a lot of Texas history scattered along El Camino Real de los Tejas. Every piece is a state treasure Texas has proudly preserved. NOW

Andra Cantrell

By Amber D. Browne

After 46 years working in various finance roles at Weatherford College, Dr. Andra Cantrell is enjoying retirement. Friends and colleagues recently celebrated Andra at a reception, where Imperial Construction and licensed broker Warren Creason each presented $10,000 gifts to establish the Dr. Andra Cantrell Endowed Scholarship. "I'm so glad and so thankful that I was able to spend my life here because it is a special place," Andra said.

The Weatherford native attended WC in the '70s and began her career there in 1980. Over the decades, she created cherished friendships, so her retirement decision was not made lightly. "There comes a time when you know it's right," she said. Andra plans to spend time with her husband, their granddaughter and her friends. "It's time for the next step."

THE FINIS TOU

If you have just remodeled your kitchen or bathroom, whether you built the cabinets yourself, had them custom made or purchased them pre-assembled and did the installation, your finishing touch is installing the cabinet handles and drawer pulls. Most do-it-yourselfers can do this, but there are a few inexpensive tools and guidelines that are worthwhile to achieve the most professional appearance when the job is complete.

This is not a job where “close enough is good enough.” By checking the placement of each hole that is drilled for the hardware, your cabinets will have uniformity and a pleasing appearance that you will be proud of.

Cabinet and drawer pulls often come with two screws — a shorter one for standard thickness doors, and a longer one for thicker cabinet doors or false-front drawers. Since some pulls may come with only one screw, check the length you need before you go to the hardware store.

For this job, you’ll need a measuring tape, Phillips and flat screwdrivers (you will probably only need one or the other), an awl, a carpenter’s square, a pencil, drill motor and bit. Usually, the drill bit will be 3/16 inch, but the cabinet pull manufacturer may specify a different size. It’s wise to drill a test hole in a scrap piece of lumber to ensure the screw fits correctly before drilling your new cabinets. The screw should fit snugly without play.

If your cabinet doors have stiles (framed doors), install the pulls in the center of the stile. If they do not have stiles (flat doors), just measure 2-3 inches from the edge of the door opening. On upper cabinet doors, place the pulls 2-3 inches from the bottom of the door. For lower cabinet doors, place them 2-3 inches down from the top of the door. If you are using bar pulls that require two holes on your drawers, first measure to find the center of the drawer face. Measure the distance between the screw holes in the pull, and divide it by 2. Then measure from your center mark to mark where the two holes need to be drilled.

You can make a template out of a piece of cardboard for marking the holes to be drilled, or, if you are handy with your saw and drill, you can fashion a more permanent one from scrap wood that can fit squarely at the side and top of the door or drawer. Such a template is easier to hold in place than the cardboard variation. However, your hardware store will probably have an inexpensive plastic template with multiple holes in it for various applications, should you need to place some of your pulls in different locations, or if, for instance, you use pulls with two holes on your drawers and only one hole on your doors. If you choose to purchase a template with multiple holes, a “pro-tip” is to cover the holes you are not using with masking tape, so you will not accidentally choose the wrong one.

HING CH

— By Bill Smith

Now use your square or template to mark all of the holes you plan to drill with a pencil. Then stand back and view to confirm they are all uniform in placement. It is a lot easier to erase and redo a pencil mark than it is to fill a hole drilled in the wrong place and have to drill again!

After you confirm where you want to drill, push an awl into the pencil mark. This will help align the drill bit and keep it from drifting and scratching your new cabinet surface. Hold your drill so that the bit remains square to the surface and drill the holes.

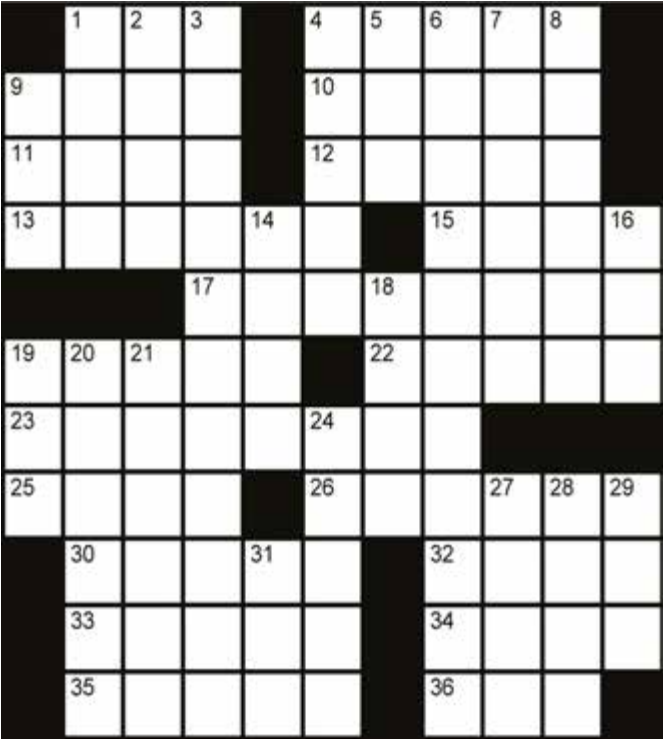

Insert the screws from the back of the drawer or door and screw your new hardware into place. Put a little thread sealant on the screws to keep them tight. If you are using pulls that have a square or rectangular base, you can use a drop of glue on the back so they will stay squarely aligned. Your job is finished, and it looks great! NOW
