April T., Mansfield, TX

When it comes to weight loss, I have tried it all. I counted points and "watched" my weight ... increase! I purchased the high-priced, low-calorie, low-flavor shakes. I even tried mail order meals. These programs left me frustrated, hungry and broke. Thanks to Diet Solution, I have finally found a real resolution to weight loss!

"The best laid plans of mice and men, often go astray." — Robert Burns, poet

Woody Allen said, "If you want to hear God laugh, tell Him about your plans." More than ever, I see truth in these quotes. Then again, every year around September, I wonder where my summer — my entire year — went. Every January, I have great intentions and get busy. Boom! I flip the calendar to September. Those projects? I haven't finished them yet. Four months to go before the end of the year. Can I still pull it out and finish what I started or come close to my good intentions? Time will tell.

The good news? I have four months before 2021. There have been so many distractions this year. First, the COVID. Then, in June, while I thought I had a month before my 13th grandchild arrived, he surprised us, throwing me behind in all I planned to finish before July. Frankly, it took a while to get back into the groove. But I did. Even now, we all continue maneuvering an uncertain future.

What do I do with all this? Simple. I can fret and shut down, or I can storm ahead and make the best of the situation. How much can I accomplish between now and the end of 2020? It's time to reassess goals and find realistic solutions. So, I'm creating alternative plans, and perhaps God is laughing again. But I won't quit, and that can make this September the best ever.

Happy beginning of fall!

ASSISTED LIVING • MEMORY CARE

During her fifth-grade year, Stacy Hughes lived in California. She set an alarm for 5:00 a.m. to watch a comet. “I woke up at 5:20 thinking I missed it,” she shared. “But it was just hanging, glistening with movement.” The experience drove her questions from that moment forward. “I wonder’ questions are glorious,” said Stacy, a BISD math teacher and leader of the Student Spaceflight Experiment Program. “The more we can get them [students] asking, the better.”

Stacy joined the Burlison ISD in 2009 when she began teaching at the Academy at Nola Dunn. She moved to REALM Middle School in 2017, where she taught math, and moved to Kerr Middle School for the 2020-2021 school year. But in 2014, she took on leadership of SSEP when the district added the program. With 23 years of teaching experience, Stacy said, “Students don’t ask questions when they don’t know the answers. Getting them to ask questions when no one knows the answers changes their way of thinking. It’s been fun.”

SSEP first came to BISD at the direction of Superintendent Dr. Bret Jimerson and the BISD Board of Trustees. They wanted a program that would enhance student engagement in science and provide them an authentic learning experience that would prepare them for the careers of the future. With a lifelong interest in space, Stacy responded without hesitation when the call came. The program, founded by an astrophysicist, Dr. Jeff Goldstein, has less to do with space than it does with curiosity.

Based in Washington, D.C., SSEP allows students to understand real science. While scientists may understand the results of an experiment on Earth, they don’t necessarily understand the results of the same experiments in space. Utilizing the International Space Station as a laboratory, they can discover the answers. The student piece comes in by allowing them to collaborate, design and propose the best experiments to include in upcoming launches.

To participate in the national program, a school district must have at least 300 students ranging from fourth to 12th grade. In Burleson, the schools include SSEP as part of their regular curriculum for sixth-graders. However, fifth- and seventh-grade students can also participate. During the 2019-2020 school year, more than 320 teams of three to five students each submitted proposals for Mission 14 SSEP. One of those teams, The Effects of Microgravity on Lentil Growth, earned a finalist spot, securing the privilege of presenting their experiment proposal to international student researchers at the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., during the SSEP National Conference. Although they faced disappointment in not making the summer trip this year, they will have a virtual fall conference. The team will also send their experiment for implementation on the International Space Station, transported by a launch scheduled for October 2020.

Working within rigid constraints of the competition, each team starts with curiosity about the world around them. They look at normal reactions and ask, "What if we take away gravity?" From there, they must design an experiment, verifying laws. "We don't know the answers," Stacy admitted. "But we have multiple experts, including TCU professors, available to help. Engaged children hold intelligent conversations with these professors."

During a special annual event, known as Space Night Symposium, each team presents their experiment to the public. The judging occurs virtually prior to the event. Stacy said, "We used virtual communication from the beginning, so COVID-19 didn't affect us as much as it could have." Over 3,000 people attended last school year with about 1,100 students. While it seems like a huge science fair, and the kids have a blast, it is actually more of a symposium of ideas where judges come together and select the top three microgravity experiments. The panel of judges includes educators from all over the United States, former students, professors from MIT and Harvard and employees of Lockheed Martin and Bell Helicopter. In D.C., the panel boasts judges from MIT, Mayo Clinic, more professors and government leaders. Only one experiment from our community earns the coveted spot on the next launch to the Space Station.

"They take it very seriously. Sometimes, I have to remind them, these are just sixth-graders," Stacy shared. "A lot of learning goes on that night. They see others' ideas. It all comes from the kids' point of view, which makes it great."

While the science part thrills Stacy, she's quick to point out other benefits of SSEP. "Sixth grade sets the tone for the rest of education. One student told me, 'I used to not think about science. Now it's my favorite subject.'" In addition, Stacy sees students learn presentation skills and teamwork and grow in basic curiosity about the world surrounding them. And that inquisitiveness drives them to question, in wondrous ways, even when they don't know the answers. NOW

Editor's Note: The Student Spaceflight Experiments Program (or SSEP) is a program of the National Center for Earth and Space Science Education (NCESSE) in the U.S. and the Arthur C. Clarke Institute for Space Education internationally. It is enabled through a strategic partnership with DreamUp PBC and NanoRacks LLC, which are working with NASA under a Space Act Agreement as part of the utilization of the International Space Station as a National Laboratory.

Tales of Texas

A TEXAS STAR

— By Angel Morris

It was not entirely uncommon for young men of a certain era to lie about their age in order to enlist in the U.S. military. It was, however, unusual for any one soldier to accumulate the accolades bestowed upon Texan Audie Murphy, who would go on to be the most decorated American combat soldier of World War II.

Born June 20, 1925, in Kingston, Hunt County, Texas, Audie Leon Murphy was one of 12 children born to Emmett and Josie Belle Murphy, sharecroppers with little means. This humble beginning perhaps encouraged him to enlist in the Army at age 17 and did not stop him from going on to earn 33 military awards, including the Medal of Honor, as well as five additional honors from Belgium and France. It is believed he wounded, captured or killed some 240 enemies, while he, himself, was wounded three times and fought in nine major campaigns to survive the war.

Rising from army private to staff sergeant, Murphy also earned a "battlefield" commission to 2nd lieutenant during his three years of active combat. Released from the Army in September 1945, Audie made the cover of Life Magazine, and was invited to Hollywood by actor James Cagney.

After two challenging years with little work, Audie received bit parts in a couple of films. In 1949, he landed his first starring role in the film, Bad Boy. A year later, he signed a contract with what is today called Universal Studios, where he starred in 26 films between 1950 and 1965.

In 1955, he starred in the film adaptation of his own autobiography, To Hell and Back, which had been a bestseller in 1949. The film was Universal's highest grossing picture until being surpassed by Jaws in 1975.

Concluding his Universal contract in 1965, Audie went on to work with other producers and studios and would complete 44 feature films, including many westerns, during his career. It is reported that Audie earned about $3 million in his 23 years of acting.

Outside of acting, Audie was also a rancher and a successful racehorse owner and breeder. He was known as a gambler, winning and losing fortunes over sporting events and poker games.

Contrary to his military and acting persona, Audie was also a poet and songwriter, and had dozens of songs recorded by famed artists including Dean Martin, Charley Pride, Porter Wagoner, Roy Clark and many more.

Like many military veterans, Audie reportedly suffered from depression, insomnia and battle fatigue (now called post-traumatic stress disorder), and even became addicted to sleeping pills. He kicked his habit and began speaking publicly about the problems faced by returning military veterans, becoming a champion for Korean and Vietnam War veterans and encouraging the U.S. government to better address war's emotional impact and the resulting health care needs.

Audie's life was tragically cut short on May 28, 1971, when he was just 45 years old. On a business trip, Audie died in a plane crash, with the accident attributed to rain and fog. He was buried with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery on June 7. His gravesite has become one of the most visited at the cemetery, second only to President John F. Kennedy's.*

Audie, who had been married twice in his lifetime, was survived by his second wife of 20 years and their two sons, Terry and James. Terry founded the Audie Murphy Research Foundation to preserve his father's memory. The Audie L. Murphy Memorial Website showcases books, collectibles, media clips, photos and more as they relate to Audie's life and career.

Since his death, Audie's birthday, June 20th, has been dubbed Audie Murphy Day in Texas by both the state legislature and then-Governor George W. Bush. In 2013, Audie's only surviving sibling, Nadine Murphy, accepted the Texas Legislative Medal of Honor on Audie's behalf, awarded posthumously by Governor Rick Perry.

Audie's namesake website notes that he is truly a one-of-a-kind World War II veteran. "What Audie accomplished during this period is most significant and probably will never be repeated by another soldier, given today's high-tech type of warfare," the site states. "The U.S. Army has always declared that there will never be another Audie Murphy." NOW

Hours: Monday-Friday: 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

Window coverings accomplish more than beautifying a room. They also insulate your home from the elements. Budget Blinds can bring improvements to your living space, adding value to your lifestyle.

Joseph and Raquel Elder, husband and wife owners and operators of your local Budget Blinds, redefined their lives once they took the leap to buy this business. While newlyweds, Joseph was an installer for Budget Blinds, and Raquel was finishing her radiology degree. After Raquel began work at Methodist Mansfield Medical Center as an X-ray technologist, Joseph continued installing for Budget Blinds, and they saved toward their first home purchase.

"The Lord worked it out that we were able to buy the franchise with essentially the money we were going to buy a house with," Joseph said. That was just over seven years ago.

Living conservatively, the Elders are a great team and work hard to pay everything off as they go along. Raquel joined Joseph as bookkeeper and scheduler for the business in 2014, when their daughter, Lexia, was born. In the last seven years, the Elders had two more children, Rylie and Isaiah Justice, while operating their business in the black. Budget Blinds is a turnkey service with a fleet of colorfully wrapped Budget Blinds vehicles, a showroom and a full-time professional team. The team consists of Office Manager Jaymes Murphy, Installer Seth Foster and Office Associate Liz Sunderman, all of whom can assist with all your needs and answer any questions you may have.

Curious customers can visit Budget Blinds' showroom to see and feel physical products, while considering their next room-changing project. Office Associate Liz Sunderman can schedule free, in-home consultations with Joseph and Jaymes, whose service area extends throughout Mansfield, Kennedale and Burleson.

Due to the infinite combinations of materials possible for most interior window treatments, Joseph prefers to meet clients in their home for a free consultation, so he can discover exactly what they want. In his relaxed, professional manner, Joseph measures windows, and then sits down to discuss the entire project with the homeowner. "I'll show them sample books containing hundreds of options for one type of window covering that will help with their needs, whether they desire a decorative shade, light control, insulation from heat and cold or simply to expand their view," said Joseph, who can find a window covering to fit their wants and needs.

Education is the key to Joseph's approach. Customers who visited either the showroom or the website learn more about their myriad options when they meet with Joseph. He also explains how the installation affects their price and lifestyle. Offering a five-year, no-questions-asked warranty on every Budget Blinds' product, and a lifetime warranty on color-fastness for the faux wood blinds and shutters, Joseph is confident in the window treatments he both designs and installs. For each window covered, Budget Blinds' five-year warranty is amazingly helpful when children or dogs, for example, ruin an installed product.

By taking an appropriate amount of time to educate clients, he is able to fully understand their needs and address any problems they desire fixed. He may discover the customer needs motorized solutions, like drop screens for convenience, aluminum shutters for security or plantation shutters for insulation.

While you're simply window shopping, feel free to come to Budget Blinds' showroom. When you're ready to consider options and make decisions, Joseph is a phone call away. "We'll make an appointment when you're ready for our free, in-home consultation," Joseph said. "That is, after all, where the magic happens." NOW

At only 7 years old, Hadiya Mujadidi speaks three languages, a first for contestants involved in Little Miss of Burleson. A second-generation native of Burleson, Hadiya is also the first of South Asian ancestry to take the crown. "I'm surprised I won the very first year," Hadiya said. "But I'm very happy to be Little Miss of Burleson." The pageant, based on academics, sees beyond outward appearance and promotes community involvement. Although COVID-19 forced this year's pageants to online platforms, the state competition for Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma will occur in Burleson come January 2021. Eventually, Hadiya plans to tap dance at retirement homes, bringing joy to the elderly. "I took them flowers," she said. "If you can dream it, you can do it."

CookingNOW

In the Kitchen With EMILIE ELLSWORTH

— By Lisa Bell

Although small and young, Emilie Ellsworth loves inventing new dishes. “My best ideas come when it’s time to go somewhere,” she admitted. “I always have something new to try in my mind. My mom doesn’t really enjoy cooking, so I amaze her with the things I put together. She’s thankful to have me!”

Emilie learned cooking skills by watching other family members who enjoy cooking, but making pancakes tops her list of favorites. Frequenting the kitchen since the age of 3, she pays attention to presentation as much as taste and cooks because it makes her happy. “It’s relaxing,” she said. “It’s exactly like dancing, another thing I love. I usually dance when I cook and pack love in every bite.” NOW

Mimi Ellsworth’s Spaghetti

3 lbs. hamburger meat
0.75 oz. Italian seasoning
3 15-oz. cans Hunt’s tomato sauce
2 tsp. salt
15 oz. water
1 1-lb. box spaghetti noodles
1 Tbsp. butter

1. Cook meat in a skillet until brown. Add Italian seasoning over the top; let simmer for 15 minutes.
2. Add tomato sauce and salt to the skillet. Add water, using one tomato sauce can for measuring. Let simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.
3. Cook the spaghetti according to package directions until soft. Drain the water; pour the spaghetti into a large bowl. Add butter to keep the noodles from sticking.

4. Mix the sauce into noodles and enjoy.

Tita Cervantes’ Pozole

Always better the next day.

12 guajillo peppers
2 cloves garlic
1 lb. pork roast, shredded
1/2 cup vegetable oil
5 cups water
1 30-oz. can hominy
6 Tbsp. salt (divided use)
2 Tbsp. oregano

Toppings:

10 radishes, sliced
4 tomatoes, diced (We like 1 small tomato for each bowl of Pozole.)
1 onion, diced
1 large bunch cilantro
1 purple cabbage, shredded
1 lime per bowl of Pozole

1. Place peppers in a small pot with the garlic; bring to a boil. Cover with a lid. Continue boiling the peppers until they are very soft. Drain; set aside to cool. Save half of the water.
2. Meanwhile, add pork, oil and water to a large pot. Boil on medium-low heat for 1 hour.
3. Add hominy and 3 Tbsp. salt to the meat; continue cooking until the hominy fully expands.
4. While the hominy expands, remove the stems and seeds from the peppers.
5. Put the peppers, remaining salt, cooked garlic and oregano into a blender; blend until orange-red.
6. Add the chili mixture to the meat; let cook for at least 15 minutes (the longer, the better).
7. Serve in a large bowl, allowing individuals to add toppings as desired.
8. Salt to taste (A sprinkle of salt on top really enhances the flavor.)

Papa Ellsworth's Green Chili Stew

- 1 lb. tender, lean pork loin, cut into small squares
- 2 28-oz. cans peeled whole tomatoes
- 5 4-oz. cans chopped green chiles
- 1 bunch cilantro
- 2 Tbsp. salt, plus extra to taste
- 1 onion, diced
- 5 potatoes, cut in big squares

1. Place the meat in a large pot; cover with water. Over medium-low heat, bring the pork to a boil. Add all other ingredients (potatoes last).
2. Let cook over medium-low heat for about 30 minutes.
3. Add additional salt to taste, if desired, and enjoy.

Curried Coconut Chicken

By Candace Frandsen

- 1 potato, peeled and diced
- 2 carrots, peeled and diced
- 2 lbs. boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut into 1/2-inch chunks
- 1 tsp. salt, or to taste
- 1 tsp. pepper, or to taste
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. curry powder, or more if you like it spicy
- 1/2 onion, thinly sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1 14-oz. can coconut milk
- 1 15-oz. can stewed, diced tomatoes
- 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
- 3 Tbsp. sugar
- 1 cup rice, prepared according to package directions

Call Mr. Handyman 817-381-9991

1. Boil the potatoes and carrots until soft. Drain; set aside. Season the chicken pieces with salt and pepper.
2. Heat oil and curry powder in a large skillet over medium-high heat for 2 minutes. Stir in the onions and garlic; cook for 1 minute more. Add the chicken, tossing lightly to coat with the curry oil.
3. Reduce heat to medium; cook for 7 to 10 minutes, or until the chicken is no longer pink in the middle and the juices run clear.
4. Pour the coconut milk, tomatoes, tomato sauce and sugar into the pan; stir to combine. Add the potatoes and carrots.
5. Cover; simmer, stirring occasionally, for approximately 30-40 minutes. Serve over rice.

Emmi's Cup-A-Cake (Oreo Mug Cake)

- 5 Oreo cookies
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 scoop vanilla ice cream

1. Throw Oreo cookies into your favorite coffee mug; add the milk. Microwave for 1 minute, 30 seconds. Carefully remove from the microwave; mix it all up.
2. Let cool until warm. Add ice cream scoop. Enjoy with a good movie.

Papa Ellsworth's Famous Pork Ribs

From Emilie – "It is my absolute favorite food."

- 1 rack lean pork ribs (They're so good you might want to get 2.)
- Oven roasting bag
- 1 cup water
- 1 bottle mesquite flavor liquid smoke
- 2-3 Tbsp. salt or seasoned salt

1. Add the ribs to the oven roasting bag. Pour in the water, entire bottle of liquid smoke and salt or seasoned salt.
2. Put in the oven at 350 F; cook for 3 hours. They will be falling off the bone, and you will be glad you tried this recipe.

Pan-waffles and Ice Cream

- Pancake mix, to taste
- Food coloring, to taste (optional)
- Favorite ice cream flavor, to taste

Optional Toppings:

- Pecans
- Whipped cream
- Strawberries
- Chocolate syrup, for drizzling

1. Mix pancake batter according to package directions. Add food coloring for fun, if desired.

Pan-waffles and Ice Cream

2. Heat waffle iron; pour in the batter. Cook until done; remove to a plate.
3. Add your favorite ice cream and additional toppings as desired, finishing with the chocolate drizzle.

TravelNOW Plan for the Unexpected

— By Melissa Rawlins

The world is full of isolated spots, each an oasis in its unique way. For a quick, affordable break from everyday reality, consider Possum Kingdom Lake.

Billed by locals as The Great Lake of Texas, Possum Kingdom is within a two-hour, highly scenic drive from most homes in NOW Magazines' footprint. Start by packing gear for scuba diving, fishing, motorcycling, hiking, camping, swimming, kayaking, photographing, painting, picnicking, bicycling or any combination thereof. Visit www.brazos.org, where good safety information is available, as well as maps of the 16,716-acre lake. Hunting is permitted only through Brazos River Authority's waterfowl blind hunting permit, which is limited through a drawing process and only allowed in certain locations. You will need to plan ahead.

But prepare for the unexpected. People say the best restaurant is Bonitaville because its cold beer, fried catfish, okra and Hatch green chili burgers are considered the best in Texas. They don't tell you about the proprietors' pettable iguanas and prairie dogs. The family-friendly eatery is on a spot that was originally the recreational area for Fort Sill.

Even now, C-130s and F-16s fly over this curvy section of the lake on training missions. Such intimate shows of United States' air superiority only provide more excitement while dining lakeside at the many restaurants situated on The Peninsula, a long and wide spit of land between two curves in a much larger S, making up the eastern leg of Possum Kingdom Lake.

Since 1938, the lake has been owned and operated by the Brazos River Authority. BRA brought in the federal Works Progress Program to build the dam and various public overlooks along winding roads that take you to and from put-in points along 219 miles of shoreline.

When COVID-19 protocols are not in place, the lake's office at the top of the dam displays intriguing historic photos. The WPP completed the Morris Sheppard Dam in 1941, and its resulting quality of life for Young, Palo Pinto, Jack and Stephens counties is unarguable. The reservoir supplies 230,750 acre-feet of water for the Brazos basin.

Recreational visitors to Possum Kingdom Lake appreciate modern additions like public fishing piers and boat ramps, picnic spots and hike-and-bike trails tucked away in surprising locations that are fun to discover during day trips.

Campsites also abound. One private, quiet spot is directly below the dam and only accessible from a back road off Highway 16 behind the fish hatchery operated by Texas Parks and Wildlife. Parents attempting to open their children's eyes to career possibilities might find a trip to this lake educational. But so do bird lovers who can spend hours watching for herons, hawks, eagles and the ubiquitous buzzards.

Those birds put on quite a show over the lake's stellar landmark, Hell's Gate. This unique rock formation provides boaters, water skiers, photographers, scuba divers, raptors and more a tempting opportunity to challenge their skills. NOW

For questions about overnight stays, call (940) 779-2424 or visit www.PossumKingdomLake.com. Upon arrival, the official Possum Kingdom Chamber/Visitor Center is located at 362 N. FM 2353 in Graford, TX. At the unofficial visitor center, PK Real Estate, Manager Beth Caldwell is happy to share the best places to see wild deer — helpful knowledge before beginning your investigation of the back roads connecting to what might really be The Great Lake of Texas. That's for you to decide.
